CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS ix
CONTRIBUTORS xi
SERIES EDITOR’S PREFACE xv
FOREWORD xvii
   Nick Temple

Introduction 1
   David Armstrong and Clare Huffington

CHAPTER ONE
Emotions in organizations: disturbance or intelligence? 11
   David Armstrong

SECTION I: PERSPECTIVES ON LEADERSHIP

Introduction 31
   Clare Huffington
CHAPTER TWO
Leadership, followership, and facilitating the creative workplace
   Antón Obholzer with Sarah Miller

CHAPTER THREE
What women leaders can tell us
   Clare Huffington

CHAPTER FOUR
What is the emotional cost of distributed leadership?
   Clare Huffington, Kim James, and David Armstrong

SECTION II: CHANGE AND CREATIVITY

Introduction
   William Halton and Linda Hoyle

CHAPTER FIVE
From sycophant to saboteur—responses to organizational change
   Linda Hoyle

CHAPTER SIX
By what authority? Psychoanalytical reflections on creativity and change in relation to organizational life
   William Halton

SECTION III: WORKING RELATIONS IN A NEW ORGANIZATIONAL ORDER

Introduction
   David Armstrong

CHAPTER SEVEN
The vanishing organization: organizational containment in a networked world
   Andrew Cooper and Tim Dartington
CHAPTER EIGHT
The discovery and loss of a “compelling space”.
A case study in adapting to a new organizational order
Sharon A. Horowitz

SECTION IV: WORKING WITH THE EXPERIENCE OF VULNERABILITY

Introduction
Linda Hoyle and Jane Pooley

CHAPTER NINE
Layers of meaning: a coaching journey
Jane Pooley

CHAPTER TEN
Clash of the Titans—conflict resolution using a contextualized mediation process
Linda Hoyle

Endword
Clare Huffington

APPENDIX I: Notes on consultancy approach and techniques
APPENDIX II: Glossary
REFERENCES
INDEX