

Contents

Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction	xv

I To Be or Not to Be . . . an Architect?

1 Why Be an Architect? 3

Money and Lifestyle; Social Status; Fame; Immortality; Contributing to Culture; Helping and Teaching Others; The Rewards of Creativity and Intellectual Fulfillment; Love of Drawing; Fulfilling the Dictates of Personality; Freedom to Do Your Own Thing

2 Why Not to Be an Architect 19

The Odds of Making It; Lack of Work; Competition; Inadequate Compensation; Ego Vulnerability: Getting Lost in the Crowd; The Risks of Envy; Lack of Power and Influence; Anxiety, Disappointment, and Depression; Personal Encumbrances; Lack of Talent; Lack of Passion and Dedication; Legal and Financial Risks; Disillusionment

II Becoming an Architect

3 The Structure of Architectural Education 39

Program Types; Curricular Content—Design, The Design Studio, History and Theory, Technology, Structures, Materials and Methods of Construction, Environmental Controls, Computer-aided Design, Management, Electives

4 Experiencing Architectural School 61

The First Year and Work Load Shock; New Values, New Language; Competition and Grades; Pencilphobia; The Culture and Community of Architecture School; The Jury System; Other Traditions

5 Professors and What They Profess 89

The Professors; Some -isms and -ologies—Morphology, Historicism, Historic Preservation, Technology, Deconstructivism, Sociology and Psychology, Functionalism, Methodology, Ecology, Urbanism, Symbology

-
- 6 Architectural Schools: Choosing and Being Chosen 123
Preparing for Architectural School; Choosing Schools—Location, Program Type, Reputation, Resources, Cost, Students, Faculty, Program Directions; The Admissions Process—The Portfolio, Interviews, Reference Letters, Grades, Exams, Timing, Financial Aid, Admissions Odds
-
- 7 After School, What? 141
Internship; Becoming a Registered Architect; Further Studies; Continuing Education; Travel; Teaching; Work in Related Fields; Abandoning Architecture.
-

III Being an Architect

- 8 The Building Process and the Architect's Role 165
How Projects Get Built—Need, Site, Financing, Design and Design Approvals, Engineers and Other Design Consultants, Brokers, Attorneys, Construction Contractors; Role Playing; Users and the Community
-
- 9 How Architects Work 183
Drawing; Writing; Reading; Talking; Calculating; Model Building; Client Contact; Government Approvals; Consultants and Coordination; Computers and Design; Construction Services; Organization within Architectural Firms; Other Services; The Goals of Architectural Firms
-
- 10 How Architects Get Work 213
Getting the First Job; Economic Conditions; Territory; Types of Markets; Selecting Architects for Projects; The Direct Approach; The Indirect Approach; The Interview; Joint Ventures; Architects as Contractors, Construction Managers, and Developers; Design Competitions; Free Services
-
- 11 Architects' Clients 235
The Household Client; Developers—The Corporate Developer, Entrepreneurs, The Institutional Client; The Government Client; Citizens and the Community as Clients

12 We Who Are Architects	255
Architects as Types; Idols and Adulation; The Faces of An Evolving Profession
Afterword	267
Appendix: Accredited Programs in Architecture	271