

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Foreword	ix
A note to the reader	xiii

Introduction: Don't skip this xvii

Part I

One: The nature of maps	4
Two: The propositional logic of the map	24
Three: Reading Land of Living Fossils	34

Part II

Four: Threatened nature	54
Five: Threatening nature	68
Six: Nature as grandeur	98
Seven: Nature as cornucopia	124
Eight: Possessable nature	144
Nine: Nature as system	164
Ten: Nature as mystery	186
Eleven: Nature as park	206

Bibliography	221
List of key maps	229
About the authors	231