

Contents

Foreword		ix
Chapter 1	Why products companies consider service business	1
Chapter 2	Clarifying the strategic intent of the service business	33
Chapter 3	The degree of change needed to set up a service business	71
Chapter 4	First base: gaining a clear perspective of service markets	105
Chapter 5	Creating the services to be sold in the new market	143
Chapter 6	Altering the operations of a product company to provide services	175
Chapter 7	Selling services	209
Chapter 8	Marketing services instead of products	253
Chapter 9	Positioning a product brand in a service market	307
Chapter 10	In conclusion	335
References		345
Index		347